

Acceptance

Previously you learned that your relationship with God is secure because, through Christ, you are forgiven and accepted by God.

You also learned that God has given you a new life: “Anyone who belongs to Christ is a new person. The past is forgiven and everything is new.” — 2 Corinthians 5:17 (CEV)

Understanding your new identity in Christ sets you free to be all God created you to be.

1 Truths about the new you

- A New Family Relationship

Read Romans 8:15-17.

What does God call us in these verses?

What do these words mean?

What does that mean to our lives practically?

- An Inseparable Love

Read Romans 8:31-32,38-39.

How can we see God's love in these verses?

How do you feel knowing that you can never be separated from God's love?

- A New Reason for Living

“For we are God's masterpiece. He has created us anew in Christ Jesus, so that we can do the good things He planned for us long ago.” — Ephesians 2:10 (NLT)

What is a masterpiece?

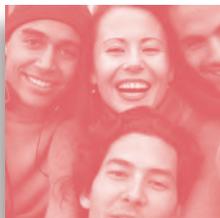

How does it make you feel to know that you are “God's masterpiece”?

- A New Power for Living

“Our old sinful selves were crucified with Christ so that sin might lose its power in our lives. We are no longer slaves to sin. For when we died with Christ we were set free from the power of sin....So you should consider yourselves dead to sin and able to live for the glory of God through Christ Jesus.” — Romans 6:6-11 (NLT)

Now that sin has lost its power in our lives, what are some important implications for daily living?

Even though Christians still sin, sin no longer controls us. We are not slaves to sin. Sin has lost its power over us. What are some implications for our daily life?

Fellowship

Having a close friendship with God and communicating with him every day.

Relationship

Having a permanent connection with God that can never be broken.

Now That You Are a New Person

God wants you to have a close friendship with Him and to communicate with Him throughout each day. This is called fellowship.

Sometimes we choose to sin, even though its power has been broken in our lives. When this happens, our permanent relationship with God as His children is not affected, but our fellowship with Him is interrupted.

For example, your relationship with your parents is permanent. No matter what you do, you will always be their child. But suppose you rebelled against your parents and angrily left home in spite of their efforts to reach out to you.

Would you still be your parents' child? What would happen to your fellowship?

This relationship with your imperfect, earthly parents is a picture of how you can relate to your perfect heavenly Father.

Your Relationship With God

Began when you received Christ (John 1:12,13)

Last forever (1 Peter 1:3,4)

Is maintained totally by God (John 10:27-29)

Never changes (Hebrews 13:5)

Your Fellowship With God

Began when you received Christ (Colossians 2:6)

Can be damaged (Psalm 32:3-5)

Is maintained in part by you (1 John 1:9)

Changes when you sin (Psalm 66:18)

Though all Christians have an eternal relationship with God, not all Christians are experiencing daily fellowship with Him. Let's see how we can consistently experience fellowship with God.

2

Our need for God's love and forgiveness

Sin keeps both Christians and non-Christians from experiencing God's love, though in different ways. But many people are confused about the nature of sin.

What is sin?

It's more than murder or theft. These actions are only the results of an attitude of sin. A simple definition of sin is: doing what we want instead of what God wants—both in actions and attitudes. Sin is any imperfection in us, missing God's perfect standard.

What are the results of sin?

For non-Christians, sin prevents a relationship with God. "But there is a problem—your sins have cut you off from God. Because of your sin, He has turned away and will not listen..." — Isaiah 59:2 (NLT)

Why does sin prevent a non-Christian from having a relationship with God? What about people who try to reach God through living a good, moral life? Are they separated from God? Why or why not?

For Christians, sin hinders our fellowship with God. (See 1 John 1:5-8.)

All of us sin and break our fellowship with God; therefore we need to know how to daily experience God's forgiveness for both our actions and attitudes.

3

The basis for God's love and forgiveness

How has God dealt with our sins?

● Read 1 Peter 3:18.

Christ's death on the cross paid for our sins "once for all." We are forgiven because of Christ's death for us. Christ's death and resurrection establish our relationship with God AND maintain our fellowship with Him.

"You were dead in sins, and your sinful desires were not yet cut away. Then He gave you a share in the very life of Christ, for He forgave all your sins, and blotted out the charges proved against you, the list of His commandments which you had not obeyed. He took this list of sins and destroyed it by nailing it to Christ's cross." — Colossians 2:13,14 (TLB)

In the day when this was written, "list of sins" meant an itemized bond nailed to the prison door. It listed every crime for which the prisoner had been convicted. When the sentence was served or restitution was paid, the authorities removed the list and wrote on it, "paid in full." The prisoner used this as proof that he could never be tried again for those crimes. The person who trusts Christ's payment for sin can never be tried again. His sins have been paid in full. He has received a full pardon from God.

*Based on the above verses, what has God done with your sins?
For how many of your sins did Christ die?
Has Christ paid for your past sins? Future sins?*

KEY QUESTION

What has Christ done with the sins you will commit tomorrow or next year?

4

Experiencing God's love and forgiveness daily

Remember, your relationship with God is permanent; He has totally forgiven all your sins—past, present and future. Since we still sin, we need to know how to restore our fellowship with God. God wants us to experience His love and forgiveness moment by moment and have a continuing fellowship with Him.

Put yourself in the earlier parent-child illustration. What would you do to restore fellowship with your parents?

● Read 1 John 1:9.

How do you restore your fellowship with God?

Confession is agreeing with God about sin.

When God brings to your attention that something you have done or thought is sin, confess it. This confession involves at least three factors:

1. Confess to God that you have sinned.
2. Thank God that He has already forgiven you.
3. Turn away from sin and trust God to change your wrong attitudes and actions (repentance).

By turning back to God and away from sin, you will experience His love and the forgiveness provided by Christ's death. Instead of feeling guilty, you can know that your fellowship with God is restored.

How many times do you need to confess a particular sin to God? When should you confess a sin?

● Read Psalms 32:5 and 103:12.

What does God do with our guilt when we confess? What should you do if you still feel guilty after you have confessed your sins?

KEY QUESTION

From what you have learned today, what will happen if you fail to confess your sin when God points it out?

Growing in God's love and forgiveness

Take some time tonight to apply the things you have learned about God's love and forgiveness. Tonight, try to do the following:

Putting confession into practice.

- Ask God to reveal any sin in your life. (Ephesians 4:31,32)
- List these on a piece of paper. Be completely honest as this is just between you and God.
- After completing your list, write over it the words of 1 John 1:9.
- Thank God for the forgiveness He provides for you through what Christ did on the cross.
- Tear up the list and throw it away.

This week, try to spend 15 minutes each day alone with God in Bible reading and prayer. Here are some suggestions:

Experiencing the results of confession.

- Read Luke 15:11-32. This story was told by Jesus of a young man who ran away from his father and wasted his inheritance. What does this story illustrate about our relationship with God, our forgiveness and our fellowship with Him?
- Read Galatians 5:16-23. What changes will take place as you allow God to work in your life? When you see an area of your life that displeases God, deal with it according to 1 John 1:9 and then enjoy your fellowship with Him.
- Read Psalm 32. This psalm describes David's experience with confession. How did he feel before he confessed his sin? How did he feel after dealing with his sin?

Summary

Understanding God's love and forgiveness allows us to enjoy a growing fellowship with Him. Close fellowship with God is the privilege of every believer who confesses their sin whenever God makes them aware of it.

Next time we will look at how to experience God's power to live an abundant Christian life.
